Precautions to Prevent Outrages Being Taken

NEW YORK, Sept. 22.—While the latest developments today in the epidemic of bomb threats which began last Thursday point to a new type of crime, the fact that a mild epidemic of these threats has broken out throughout the country is a fact which cannot be denied.

Cleveland, Boston, New Bedford, Mass., Trenton, N.J., and New York City, among the cities where the epidemic has broken out, have received numerous warnings of dire threats against various persons and places. In some cases, the threats have been so serious that the police have been called out to investigate.

DOCTORS FAVOR A REDUCTION IN PRESCRIPTIONS

Majority of Alberta Medical Men to Date Would Have Monthly
Number Fifty

Most of the doctors who have already answered the questionnaire on the referendum submitted to them by the Alberta Medical Association, are in favor of a reduction in the number of prescriptions which may be issued by a doctor. This can be seen from the report submitted by the association at the afternoon session of the annual meeting of the association, which was held at the Hotel Macdonald last night.

The largest number also were in favor of the prescription being limited to eight prescriptions for each month. This would mean that a doctor would be allowed to issue a total of 400 prescriptions a year, or an average of 33 prescriptions a month.

The referendum was submitted to the doctors by the association as a means of determining the opinion of the medical profession on the question of the number of prescriptions which should be allowed to be issued by a doctor.

The results of the referendum will be used by the association in its efforts to secure legislation which will limit the number of prescriptions which may be issued by a doctor in the province.

The referendum was held on a voluntary basis, and the results are not binding on the association. However, the association expects that the results will be used in its efforts to secure legislation.

SONS OF ENGLAND MAKE PLANS FOR WINTER'S WORK

Edmonton Lodge, Sons of England, is planning for a very busy and interesting season to commence on Monday evening, September 27th, when a delegation will be in attendance from an Order with similar legal and patriotic objects to invite the co-operation of the S.O.E. in a matter so urgent and far reaching importance. At the same meeting the local Hour Committee will submit a complete synopsis of events for each week night, from Oct. 11th to April 21st. It is promised that prominent citizens will give a short address on a subject of special interest, to members of the S.O.E. Order and their friends, whom each member will be privileged to bring.

The S.O.E. Entertainment Committee, which was responsible for the very successful run of enjoyable and profitable evenings during the winter months of 1919-20, has been reorganized and has promised to make an effort to surpass, if possible, the last year's program of pleasure and amusement. This committee will also bring forward a program of plans for the approaching season, when S.O.E. members and their adherents are looking forward to a series of attractive and interesting events to cheer the monotony of the long evenings.

The S.O.E. members are doing all in their power to assist the committee and are seeking the cooperation of members by regular and early attendance at all Lodge meetings, so that it may be possible in the future to point to the 1920-21 season as one of the most notable in recent years.

SHAMROCKS AND VETS PLAY TO TIE
NO SCORES IN LAST NIGHT'S GAME

Two Thousand People Witness Battle Royal Between Top-Notchers in City Football League When Both Defenses Prove Invaluable—Game Will Be Replayed Saturday Afternoon For Semi-Final in Charity Shield Contest

For the fourth time this season the Vets and Shamrocks played to a draw game at How's Place, had night to the Vets for the Charity Shield. There was no scoring and although there were several good shots, the defense of both teams was in excellent form. Crozier and Parker had an equal number of stops to make and both made them in good time. Crozier, with a hard shot, and the second half the shot of the Vets was that from Symington whose terrific drive was enough to draw down at the Vets and Crozier. The teams will meet in the replay on Saturday afternoon at 4:30, and the game will be played to a finish.

Shamrocks Win Free. Bill Adams was the first to play with the team. He was pretty good in both halves, but the Vets, with their superior play, were the better team. Crozier was called upon. Midfield play was the order of the day. The Vets were on one on one on the defense. It was an even first half.

Second Half Fuster. The second half was much faster, and the team play of the Vets was pretty to watch. For that matter Shamrocks also took a turn at combination, and for a time had the better of the play. It was a very close game however, and there were few fouls. The game was evenly matched in their respective halves.

Notes. Both defenses were in good trim. There were no mistakes. The halves were good and no complaint can be made with any of the effort. The fact that the players throwing the ball with the exception of Billy Macpherson, and last night, Macpherson was throwing the ball every time. It is as easy to throw the ball in the Vets' hands as it is in a poor foul kick—free kick from a three point position. The Vets played better in the first half than in the second. The Shamrocks were better in the second, Shamrocks forwards were all good.

CALGARY WINS.

Winning baseball championships seems to be a specialty with the municipality of Calgary in the year at hand. Not content with throwing the nose over the professional pennant last week, the amateurs of that town won out Wednesday afternoon and pilfered both ends of a double-header from the Edmonton Y.M.C.A. team.

The score in the first game was 10-2 and in the second 11-12, the Edmonton men coming within a shade of tying up the series again, as they did the double-header in Edmonton last Saturday when each team took a game.

The Calgary Hustlers are therefore provincial amateur baseball champions for the second year in succession. Enright and Stoetzel were the pitchers for Edmonton yesterday at Calgary.

Gone—But Whither?

A Terharran dispatch says that the Reds have gone south or north is the important point, and that the report is silent.

Defining The Issue.

Premier Meighen continues to make clear to the voters in the form of a tariff, that the government is not in a position to make a tariff imposed only for revenue purposes. The thought of his policy, he is entitled to credit for frankly proclaiming it. He is at least giving people to understand what he is doing.

That is not a large and also not a novel change. Under the coalition it was held to be a mark of hopeless partisanship, if not of positive disloyalty.

Mr. Meighen is no more thoroughgoing Liberal than he was a year ago, and this Government cannot well be more faithful to the interests than that which it displaced. But it is not so much gained that pretense has been thrown to the winds, and that the Minister now stands forth as the avowed champion of the policy they formerly practised under cover of neutrality.

more sympathy with the Poles that led the Allies to help in settling their country up as a sovereign state. It was also the expectation that Poland would stand as a bulwark against Bolshevism, and as a barrier to any attempt on the part of Germany to expand to the eastward.

If the response the Poles have justified that expectation. They have certainly retained the reds, and have not been suspected of having any intention of doing so. But if they are forced to fritter away their strength in unnecessary struggles their efficiency as a buffer state will be lost. The chances rather are, if they take on both the Lithuanians and the Russians at the same time, they will be beaten, and the Allies would then be confronted with the task of resurrecting the barrier of abandoning the buffer state policy and adopting what other means they could to protect themselves against redism and the expansive designs of Berlin. It would be better to avoid that situation than to have to find a way out of it.

The Growth of The City.

As a result of the enumeration made in compiling the vital statistics for the city, it is found that the population of the city is 61,045. This is a gain of eight thousand over the return for 1916, when the last census was taken, by the Dominion Government. It is, however, six thousand less than the figure for the city of Toronto, and lower than the record, set in 1914.

The report disappoints a somewhat general expectation that there would be found to be as many people living in the city now as in 1916. The reason for this expectation based on the facts that habitable houses are practically all occupied, that apartment buildings are under construction, and that room rents are higher than a year ago. It shows, however, that if the city has not yet reached the mark of 1914 it is on the way. The point has been reached and passed, and the gain now more considerable than the loss, leaving a substantial increase.

This upward trend in population has been steadily maintained, and "booming" moods, nor is it the result of any notable influx at any particular time. There was a considerable increase in the population of the city last spring, but there was also a heavy exodus on the part of those who had decided to get back to the country, and the flow for that period probably made little difference in the total number. But it is not so much gained that pretense has been thrown to the winds, and that the Minister now stands forth as the avowed champion of the policy they formerly practised under cover of neutrality.

Mr. Meighen is no more thoroughgoing Liberal than he was a year ago, and this Government cannot well be more faithful to the interests than that which it displaced. But it is not so much gained that pretense has been thrown to the winds, and that the Minister now stands forth as the avowed champion of the policy they formerly practised under cover of neutrality.

due to the fact that last year those who wished to vote had to go to the polls, and record their names, while this year canvassers went from house to house and made up the list. Assuming the number of voters to have been correctly done, the result indicates that about one-third of those who are entitled to vote are more or less indifferent about the privilege; too indifferent to take the time and trouble to register. Wherever the list was made, it was money to put on the list the names of people who do not particularly care whether they have votes or not, and will be one of the things to be disclosed by the total number of votes cast on polling day.

The census taker's list does not show what proportion of those who are entitled to vote are taxpayers. That is information that would be most useful, both in showing to what extent the voting power resides with those who have to pay taxes, and also in indicating the extent to which the tax burden could be eased by distributing it over the entire voting population.
